Nashville, TN — The U.S. Postal Service today recognized The M.A.I.L. The award was announced at the annual National Postal Forum.

“We are pleased to recognize and honor The M.A.I.L. Group for its innovation, creativity and leadership,” said Pritha Mehra, Vice President of Business Mail Entry and Payment Technologies, who nominated the company for the award. “It has produced winning business results and supported the mailing industry.”

In honoring The M.A.I.L. Group has also finalized a concept for the next service bureau frontier, package services.

The firm was among a select group of postal customers honored as “best in class” in the Corporate Business Achievement category. A self-supporting government enterprise, the U.S. Postal Service is the only delivery service that reaches every address in the nation, 150 million residences, businesses and Post Office Boxes. The Postal Service receives no direct support from taxpayers. With 36,000 retail locations and the most frequently visited website in the federal government, the Postal Service relies on the sale of postage, products and services to pay for operating expenses. Named the Most Trusted Government Agency five consecutive years and the sixth Most Trusted Business in the nation by the Ponemon Institute, the Postal Service has annual revenue of more than $68 billion and delivers nearly half the world’s mail. If it were a private sector company, the U.S. Postal Service would rank 28th in the 2009 Fortune 500.
